Gandhiji's contribution to upliftment of depressed classes was a milestone in Indian history. He gave the term 'Harijan' to him, published newspaper entitled ' Harijan' for awareness in society and worked tirelessly to eradicate untouchability, which was rooted in Indian society from many centuries .Gandhiji advocated for equal right to all, regardless of caste or social status. He organized 'Harijan Seva Sangh' at national and state level for empowerment and eradication of untouchability. He launched many programs, tours, schemes movement for this purpose. He promoted social economic empowerment through education, self-reliance and community service. Gandhiji's social reform movement and efforts helped raise awareness in Indian society.
